

Address delivered, by James P. B. Hyndman from Station WHAP, New York City, on Monday, May 3, 1926 (9:15 P.M.) on Americanism. Subject:

ANSWER TO ROMAN CATHOLIC CRITICS

Before proceeding to the subject assigned for this evening, on The Flag of America, I am constrained to reply to criticisms, which have been received, evidently emanating from Roman Catholics, directed against addresses delivered, by me, from Station WHAP, New York City, on Americanism. These critics do not give their addresses, and usually they give no name. As the latest writer gives no address, but only her name, I cannot reply to her by letter, and therefore take the opportunity of replying over the air. In this, I, of course, have the full sanction of Station WHAP.

I will read only those portions of Miss Pettingill's letter, which touch upon interesting points on the subject of Americanism.

The announcer of this station is very careful in announcing names. Miss Pettingill has Judaized my name, which is derived from North of Ireland (Ulster) patronymics.

I am not a member of the Ku Klux Klan, nor of any other organization. I subscribe unreservedly, however, to the one hundred per cent American program of the Klan, that is, in its stand to maintain a white, Protestant America, the America founded by the patriots. I deplore the present schism in the Klan, which is the direct result of the Jesuit policy of mental manipulation and "boring from within," and I denounce the policy of the present national leadership of the Klan, in expressing, through its instructed public lecturers, an attitude of non-antagonism to Roman Catholicism and protocol Judaism, while professedly standing for Americanism and Protestantism. "There is no concord between Christ and Belial." (Paul)

Else Pettingill's reference to communism seems to be without point. Communism finds no support in any words of mine. My first, last, and all-the-time allegiance is to the Holy Bible, which is the Word of God, and to Christ my Master, and to the Constitution of the United States of America, against which, one and all, both Roman Catholicism and Communism, or Bolshevism (which is protocol Judaism) are arrayed in final combat.

I do not quote authorities, except occasionally. All of my addresses are the result of years of painstaking and careful research and study; and my authority for every statement of fact, made in these addresses, may be found in my files.

Miss Pettingill's slur as to the Norse Mythology, opens a most interesting and instructive subject, which it may be profitable to develop briefly here. That the Northmen were primitive Christians, and resisted Roman Catholicism, masquerading as Christianity, is borne out by abundant evidence, even though the entire spirit of the noble Viking race did not, in itself bear witness to this fact, which, indeed it does.

I quote from the article on Norse Mythology, in the Americana Encyclopedia for 1925. The article is entitled, "Scandinavian Mythology," and will be found on pages 351-3. It reads;

Scandinavian Mythology dealt also with the future of the world and of humanity; and here again it is remarkably in accord, in some of its features, with the teachings of science, and, it may be added, also of religion. Such was the faith of the fathers of that race which settled Normandy, — and gave guardians to the degenerate heirs of the Constantine's — the race from which the English speaking peoples of today are largely descended, and from which some of their most valuable qualities are derived.

From Chambers' Encyclopedia, 1906, Volume 9, page 194, I quote;

Iceland is the Mecca to which all must turn, who would understand the Odinic religion (the religion of Odin, or the Norse Mythology); Iceland is the Patmos where Scandinavian Mythology was recorded.

Continuing:

Caesar and Tacitus furnish some Important data, and next after them come the Christian writers, down through the foggy and dark middle ages, who wrote in Latin; but the very small amount of mythological information contained in their books, is due in part to their ignorance, but mainly to their hostility to the heathen religion.

As, of course, none but the Roman Catholic monks wrote in Latin, the "Christian writers" referred to were Roman Catholics, and the "hostility" was between them and the Norsemen, and was as inevitable and ineradicable as the "fixed antipathies of nature."

In a paper, read some years ago, before the Royal Society of Literature, in London, by James Hyde, F.E.S.L., entitled, "The Under Thought of the Elder Edda," the writer quotes R. B. Holt, a former Fellow of the Society, as drawing an intimate comparison between St. John's Apocalypse and the Norse Edda, and stating, that the symbolism of both is clear to the initiated, but only a vain panorama to the ignorant.

The bibliography of the Northmen, their literature, discoveries, history, and manner of life, and their Mythology, is so extensive, that time and space forbid quoting, even an abridged list here. I shall be glad to send a copy of this bibliography to anyone who will ask for it. Address Station WHAP, 9 West 96th Street, New York City.

There was no mistaken chronology in my reference to the Jesuits, in connection with the claim of Columbus as the discoverer of America, as the sentence containing this reference was in the present tense. The Jesuits are the prop and mainstay of the Roman Catholic Church, and control it; therefore, they are responsible for everything for which this organization stands.

As to the name America, there is abundant evidence, that this name America, in several varying forms, appeared in the Western Hemisphere ages before Amerigo Vespucci was reputed to have sailed to these shores — for, indeed, there is much doubt among scholars as to whether this navigator ever saw any portion of the western continents.

As to the statement attributed to Archbishop Adam, of Bremen, that Scandinavia was "the Rome of the North", it is well known that Roman Catholicism is conspicuous, in Scandinavia today, by its absence, and by the paucity of the number of its edifices in the countries of the North. Roman Catholicism was, in Scandinavia, as in Britain, an artificial and foreign superimposition, and having no root in the hearts of the people, in God's own time it "passed away." Its final effort to maintain itself is in its attempt to "Make America Roman Catholic;" and this effort, under the fiat of God and His Christ, will inevitably result in the utter annihilation of Roman Catholicism, which is the great red dragon of St. John's Book of Revelation, the Beast, whose number is 666.

I am quite aware of the claim that Lord Baltimore founded the State of Maryland, that the Roman Catholic hierarchy claims the credit for the first establishment of freedom of religion in America in the State of Maryland, and that Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, a Roman Catholic, signed the Declaration of Independence. The fact remains, that the only freedom of religion in America, is that which Christ established through the Pilgrim Fathers. There is no license of religion in America. The heart and soul of the Protestant religion, as founded in America by the Pilgrim Fathers, is contained in Christ Jesus' Sermon on the Mount, of which it is recorded.:

The people were astonished at his doctrine, for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

(Matthew vii., 29)

The so-called eucharistic congress, which is planned to be held In Chicago, from June 20 to 24 next, is a Roman Catholic, not an American function, and, as such, it is both illegal on the soil of America, and in violation of the Constitution of the United States of America. Its accompaniment of the armed body-guard of the papal palace in Rome, and an array of two million Roman Catholic laity, is both a threat and an insult to every genuine American, and inspires in their breasts and in their souls, not fear, but a fixed determination, through the power of God and his Christ, to rid America forever of Roman Catholicism and Jesuitism. Christ, not the pope, rules America, and Americans give their allegiance to Christ, who is "he that liveth, and was dead, and behold, I am alive forevermore," the eternal Son of God, who neither needs nor recognizes a "vicar" to occupy the throne which God gave him on the earth, when He said; "This is my beloved Son, hear him." "All flesh is grass," and Roman Catholicism is flesh, for it teaches the propagation or multiplication of the earth through lust, or the carnal mind, in direct contra-vention of the sublime spiritual teaching of Christ Jesus, that God, Spirit, Life, Truth and Love is the Author of the universe, including spiritual man, the only man, for flesh, or matter is NOT man. Paul's statement, "For the flesh warreth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh, and these are contrary, the one to the other," is interpreted today thus; For Roman Catholicism, the Beast of Revelation, the propagator of flesh, with its carnal mind, which results in sin — disease and death, warreth against Christ, the Son of God, the representative of spiritual man made in the image and likeness of God; and, these, namely, Roman Catholicism and Christ, are contrary, the one to the other. The fruits of Roman Catholicism are ignorance, servitude, poverty, sin, disease and death; and there is no soil to be found in spiritual America for the propa-agation of such a tree. The fruits of the Spirit of Christ are love, peace, joy, health, holiness and life eternal; in other words, the Kingdom of God, "on earth as it is in heaven."

The inspiration which prompts and dictates this reply, is from Christ; this Inspiration fills the heart with divine love for humanity, for every man, woman and child, every beast, bird and fish on the earth, --- for "the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof,"— all of whom, in their reality, in their spiritual individ-uality, are ideas of God, Spirit, the one and only Creator, eternal Life, Truth and Love, who creates, not flesh, as Roman Catholics falsely teach that He does, but who evolves spiritual ideas, which are eternal, and obedient to His divine will. At the same time that false system which, embodies itself under the name of Roman Catholicism and popery, Jesuitism and false Judaism, is the anti-Christ, reversing the order of God's creation, and seemingly filling the earth with sin, disease and death. The dragon is arming, on the soil of Amer-ica, to violently resist and oppose Christ and them that are Christ's; but God is the only power, and the dragon, popery, is powerless, for flesh and blood can-not stand against God and His Christ. Every so-called Roman Catholic, as well as every living thing on the face of the earth, is, in his reality, the child of God, for flesh is nothing; and everyone must learn this spiritual fact, even though the process takes ages. The flesh must be put off. There is no place in America for Roman Catholicism or protocol Judaism, and they must depart from our shores forthwith, for "The mouth of the Lord hath spoken it."

I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

He which testifieth these things saith, Surely I come quickly. Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus.

(Revelation 22:13 & 20)
