

every idea must reflect every other idea in order to be that idea.

Guidance Leads to the Goal: Love

We have talked about goal. Goal, as we will later see, is Love. Guidance describes that Mind which right from the beginning has the goal, Love. Mind is therefore that initiative power that will lead thought in an ordered way towards the goal. The subsequent ordered unfoldment is no longer Mind, but the initiative, the impulsion, the conception, is Mind. Mind has an infinite primeval conception of what it wants to do. The intelligence of Mind knows what it wants to do and for this reason it must have a primordial conception. It is Mind that says, "I want to do this and this," and thus sets the goal. The goal itself, where it is fulfilled, is Love, but Mind, at the beginning, is that which sets the idea and brings it into action.

Mind guides, leads, steers, directs. Thus we have a tone that the intelligence of Mind, the wisdom of all-knowing, all-comprehending Mind is the only power that can guide us rightly. The intelligence of the one Mind knows what, where, when and how it wants to achieve its purpose when it manifests itself. Mind, by manifesting itself, is constantly guiding us aright. Mind outlines what must be done to achieve its aim. Being one with the consciousness of the one steering, leading, all-directing, guiding Mind eliminates the possibility of accidents because Mind knows its aim and design and how to arrive at the aim it has in view, in the most direct way.